General requirements: previous education

The admission requirements for academic year 2024/25 for the master's in European Studies (Research) depend on your previous education. Please check below which requirements apply to you.

Graduates from a relevant university bachelor's programme

You qualify for admission if you have graduated in a relevant bachelor's degree in: European Studies, Social or Political Science, History, Economics, International Relations, Law, or a similar field. Provided that the Bachelor's programme included sufficient Europe-oriented component.

Additional requirements

You must have strong academic abilities, not be afraid to work hard, and have a keen interest to pursue research in the field of European integration.

Please note: There are additional requirements when applying for the double degree track (see below).

Language requirements for English-language master's programmes

As English is the language of instruction in this study programme, it is essential that your English language skills are good enough for you to undertake intensive and challenging academic courses that are taught and examined in English.

Answer the questions below to find out if you meet the language requirements.

Do you hold a bachelor's or master's degree in which English was the sole language of instruction?

YesNoUndo

Applicants who received their previous education in a non-EU/EEA country (handling fee)

Applicants for this study programme who received their previous education in a non-EU/EEA country will have to pay a handling fee. More information on this handling fee and how to arrange this payment can be found on the Handling fee page.

Additional requirements when applying for the Double Degree programme

If you wish to enrol in the double degree programme, you need to indicate this in your motivation letter when applying (please explicitly mention if you intend to pursue a double degree and briefly explain why). Your application will be assessed by the Board of Admission of Maastricht University (UM) and, independently, by the Board of Admission of the University of Cologne. Please bear in mind that the University of Cologne has specific entry requirements and selection criteria (see website of the University of Cologne).

All candidates need to submit their application at Maastricht University. Maastricht University and the University of Cologne both revise the applications, making sure that candidates fulfil the entry requirements of both universities and pass the selection procedure successfully.

If you are accepted to the double degree option, and applied with a non-German bachelor's degree, it is under the condition that you send certified copies of your documents to uni-assist for evaluation during your first year of studies. You will also have to pay the corresponding handling fee (currently €75; subject to change).

If your application to the Master European Studies (Research) is accepted at Maastricht University but rejected for the double degree option with the University of Cologne, you can study the European Studies Master's programme at Maastricht University with one of the other options offered (internship or study abroad option).

Tuition fees for the Double Degree Programme

Year one

In year one you are enrolled at UM and have to pay the regular UM tuition fee.

Year two

All students at the University of Cologne must pay a social contribution of approximately € 320 per semester. This is not a tuition fee but a solidarity payment. It also includes the cost of the semester ticket for free public transportation. You are enrolled at the University of Cologne.

In order to be able to graduate, you also need to register at Maastricht University at the start of the second academic year. You will not pay tuition fee at Maastricht University for year two. The admissions office of the UM will contact you in May of your second year to inform you on the registration procedure at UM.

- Two writing samples
Provide proof of sufficient academic writing/research skills. The Admission Board asks the applicant to submit: an independently written research paper, and/or a thesis from a university bachelor's programme (written by applicant in the language of the chosen programme), and/or an essay on a topic specified by the Admission Board (written by applicant in the language of the chosen programme). The writing samples should reflect your research experience and academic writing skills, and consist of at least 2,000 words (excluding the footnotes and reference list). The submitted work should be written in English.

**As a UM student it is not necessary to upload the above-mentioned documents in the MyApplication portal. However, if your passport will not be valid on 1 September 2024, then you still have to upload a copy of your passport.*

Documents that might be required depending on your (academic) background

- Document(s) that demonstrate your proficiency in English

Answer the questions concerning language requirements under Language requirements for English-language master's programmes' on this webpage to find out if you need to provide additional documentation. The outcome of your answers will indicate which documents you can use to prove your proficiency.

How do we assess your application?

When you want to apply or are applying for this study programme, it is useful to know how we assess your application. You can find more information about this here.

For the research master's programme in European Studies, enrolment is based on your quality and suitability. For this your motivation, prior qualifications and your (professional) experience are important. You provide proof of this by uploading several documents. All complete application files will be assessed by the UM.

An interview may also be part of the selection procedure for admission to this programme. Selection interviews will take part in the period from April throughout June.

Based on the documents you have submitted and the admission procedure for your chosen programme, the UM decides on whether to admit you. Once UM has made a decision on your admissibility, you will be informed about this by email.
