

Declaration of consent for the creation and use of visual material

The creation of visual material of individuals falls under the legal purview of portrait rights and the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). A portrait is defined as an image in which an individual is recognisable.

To ensure that visual materials are created and published in accordance with the applicable legislation, Maastricht University (UM) requests your permission to create and publish such materials. Publication may include placing an image on the university website and using it for UM promotional (brochures, advertisements and magazines), communicative (social media) and informative (newsletters) purposes.

Participation is voluntary. UM has clearly informed you in advance about the nature and purpose of the creation and publication of visual material. You can withdraw your consent at any time with no negative consequences.

More information about how the university handles personal data and your rights can be found in the UM privacy statement: <https://www.maastrichtuniversity.nl/um-general-privacy-statement>

Declaration of consent for the use of visual material:

I hereby declare that I give my free and informed consent for the creation and publication of visual material in which I am depicted, and for the use of this material by Maastricht University for promotional, communicative and/or informative purposes, including publication on social media.
