Programme information

In this 3-day onsite workshop, we share many years of theoretical and practical experience in designing, managing and assessing learning in student-centered curricula. The programme offers an introduction and global overview of the principal components and characteristics of the Maastricht approach to student-centered learning, but also offers many opportunities to share your ideas, discuss problems and elaborate on questions in interactive sessions with SHE experts in the educational field.

This workshop can be a first encounter with SHE, and in many cases a stepping stone to other SHE courses, a Master of Health Professions Education or a PhD programme.
