Info about app

This app is designed for researchers at the University of Maastricht. It is often hard to get people to participate in studies, whether they are online surveys or in-person experiments. With this app, everyone's research is conveniently in one place. You can post your survey for people to take, create an event to share with people who might take participate in your study, correspond with other researchers, and help peers with their research needs. All you need is an iPhone and an email address.
