SECTION 1 GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1.1 Applicability of the regulations

These regulations apply to the education and exams and examinations of the below-listed master's programmes (hereinafter 'the programme') and to all students who are registered for the programme.

The programme is provided by Maastricht University's Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, hereinafter to be referred to as 'the faculty' or FASoS.

The regulations were adopted by the Faculty Board after advice of the programme committee and after consent from or in consultation with the Faculty Council. The regulations will take effect on 1 September 2018 for the 2018/19 academic year.

The regulations in Section 2 Admission will take effect on 1 September 2018 and apply to admissions for the academic year 2019/20.

These regulations also apply to students from other programmes, faculties or institutions of higher education, insofar as they follow components of the programme to which these Education and Examination Regulations apply.

For components of the programme that students follow at another degree programme, faculty or institution of higher education, the Education and Examination Regulations for the other programme, faculty or institution apply to the component in question.

- s. Programme Committee: the representation and advisory body that carries out the duties described in Article 9.18 and 9.38c of the Act;
- t. course guide: the programme guide with programme-specific provisions and information, as published on the web catalogue on MyUM.
- u. Communication is defined as correspondence made via email to the student account; regular mail is sent to the residential/ living address or, if that is not listed or has expired, to the standard address.
- v. Information is provided via FASoS Student Intranet, the digital learning environment and students' UM email account.

The other terms have the meaning given to them by the Act.

SECTION 2 ADMISSION

Article 2.1.1 Admission to selective master's programme

1. The person who meets the requirements referred to in admission requirements from Article 2.2 and the language requirements from Article 2.3 is eligible for admission to the selective master's programme.
2. The Board of Admission decides on the requests for admission, according to the procedures as set forth in article 2.4 (Limited capacity) and 2.5 (Admission test dates).

2.1.2 Admission (without selection) after preparatory bachelor's programme

- Applicants who have a bachelor's degree in European Studies from the faculty are directly admitted to the Master European Studies (article 1.1 under A).
- Applicants who have a bachelor's degree in Arts and Culture from the faculty are directly admitted to the specialisation 'Arts, Literature and Society' or 'Politics and Society' of the Master Arts & Culture (article 1.1 under D).
- Applicants who have a bachelor's degree in Cultuurwetenschappen from the faculty are directly admitted to the specialisation 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving' or 'Politiek en Samenleving' of the Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen (article 1.1 under G).

2.1.3 Admission (without selection) after pre-master's programme

Applicants who are accepted to the pre-master's programme (article 2.7), and who have completed their bachelor's degree and meet all the requirements of their pre-master's programme (article 2.7) are directly admitted to the master's programme.

Article 2.2 Admission requirements

In order to be eligible for admission to the programme an applicant needs to fulfil the following requirements:

1. Provide proof of having obtained a Bachelor's degree in a relevant academic field with a good overall result, by submitting a certified copy of the certificate and official transcript of records. If the original documents are not in Dutch, English, French or German, these must be translated in English. The field of the requested preceding bachelor is indicated on the Faculty website.
2. Submit a letter of motivation, written in the language of the chosen programme, that: a) explains why the candidate has chosen the programme and b) convinces the Board of Admissions that the s/he has the intellectual capacities and personal skills to successfully complete the master's programme.
3. Provide proof of sufficient academic writing/research skills. The Admission Board asks the applicant to submit:
 - an academic paper, or;
 - a thesis from a university Bachelor's programme (written by applicant in the language of the chosen programme), or;
 - an essay on a topic specified by the Admission Board (written by applicant in the language of the chosen programme).
4. In order to further assess the eligibility for admission of the applicant the Board of Admission may invite the student for a (Skype) interview to triangulate points 2 and 3.

Article 2.3 Language requirements

2.3.1 For Dutch-language selective master's programmes

Degene die voldoet aan de toelatingseisen van artikel 2.2 kan zich enkel inschrijven voor de Nederlandstalige Master of Arts opleidingen (zoals vermeld in article 1.1 G) indien:

- a. hij/zij voor aanvang van het programma heeft voldaan aan de eis van voldoende beheersing van het Nederlands door de toets Nederlands als tweede taal (NT2) te hebben behaald;
- b. hij/zij is vrijgesteld van de taaltoets zoals vermeld onder a.
- c. De vrijstelling zoals vermeld onder b wordt verleend aan kandidaten die een van de volgende diploma's hebben behaald:
 - en Nederlandstalige bacheloropleiding;
 - een Nederlandstalige HBO of WO propedeuse of hoger;
 - Nederlands als moedertaal hebben.

2.3.2 For English-language selective master's programmes

The applicant who meets the admission requirements of article 2.2 may only register for the English language Master of Arts programmes (mentioned in article 1.1 A to F), if:

- a. s/he has met the requirement concerning a sufficient command of English by passing one of the following language proficiency tests before the programme begins:
 - IELTS (International English Language Testing System) with an overall score of at least 6.5 and a writing score of at least 6.5; or
 - TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) with an overall score of at least 90 (TOEFL internet), and a writing score of at least 25; or an overall score of 575 (TOEFL paper) or 232 (TOEFL computer) with an equivalent minimum writing score; or
 - A Cambridge certificate: C or higher for the CAE (Certificate in Advanced English).
- b. s/he has been exempted from the language proficiency test referred to under a.
- c. The exemption as mentioned under b is granted to applicants who are native English speakers and/or have obtained an English-taught bachelor's degree.

2.3.3 For the English-language selective research master's programmes

The applicant who meets the admission requirements of Article 2.2 may only register for the Master of Science programmes (mentioned in article 1.1 H and I) if:

- a. s/he has met the requirement concerning a sufficient command of English by passing one of the following language proficiency tests before the programme begins:
 1. IELTS (International English Language Testing System) with an overall score of at least 7.0 and a writing score of at least 6.5, or
 - TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) with an overall score of at least 100 (TOEFL internet), and a writing score of at least 25; or with an overall score of at least 600 (TOEFL paper) or 250 (TOEFL computer) with an equivalent minimum writing score; or
 2. A Cambridge certificate: C or higher for the CAE (Certificate in Advanced English).
- b. s/he has been exempted from the language proficiency test referred to under a.
- c. The exemption as mentioned under b is granted to applicants who are native English speakers and/or have obtained an English-taught bachelor's degree.

Article 2.4 Limited capacity

1. At least two months before the closing date referred to in Article 2.6, the Dean will make a proposal to the Executive Board concerning the maximum number of students to be admitted to the programme.
2. The Board of Admissions will rank the requests submitted by the candidates eligible for admission as referred to in Article 2.1, on the basis of the admission and language requirements mentioned in articles 2.2 and 2.3, taking into account the relevance of and grades earned in the previous bachelor's degree. Applicants therefore need to submit a certified copy of the diploma and a transcript of academic records (with certified translation for languages other than English, Dutch, German and French). An applicant who has not yet completed the programme will have to send a copy of the most recent grades list with the application.

3. The Board of Admissions will grant the requests for admission in accordance with the ranking established by the board.

Article 2.5 Board of Admissions

1. The programme's Board of Admissions is responsible for assessing eligibility for admission and issuing the certificate of admission to the programme and to the pre-master's programme. The Board of Admissions consists of:
 - the Chair, i.e. the Programme Director;
 - at least one member appointed from the academic staff who teaches in the programme;
2. The Board of Admissions is supported by an Admission Officer; in the case of appeals the Office Manager of the Education Institute may support the Board of Admissions.
3. The Dean appoints the members of the Board.

Article 2.6 Admissions dates

1. A request for admission to a programme must be submitted to the Board of Admissions before the applicable deadlines:
 - for non-EU/EEA students from countries where a visa or residence permit is required, the deadline is set for 1 May;
 - for EU/EEA students and for non-EU/EEA students who do not require a visa or residence permit, the deadline is set for 1 June.
2. In special cases, the Board of Admissions can take up a request submitted after the closing date referred to in paragraph 2.
3. The Board of Admissions will decide on the request before 15 May (for applicants for the 1 May deadline) or 15 June (for applications for the 1 June deadline).
4. The selected candidate will be admitted on the condition that s/he meets the requirements stated in articles 2.2 and 2.3 regarding knowledge, understanding and skills by the start date of the programme, as evidenced by certified copies of the certificates for the programmes and language tests s/he has successfully completed.

Article 2.7 Pre-master's programme

The applicant who does not meet the requirements for the Master of Arts programme mentioned in article 1.1 A, B and D to F has the possibility to meet those requirements by successfully completing the one-year pre-master's programme.

Since the FASoS's pre-master's programmes consist of modules from the FASoS's bachelor's programmes, more specific regulations for the different pre-master's programmes and their content are listed in the Bachelor's Education and Examination Regulations; in section 9 and 11 and appendix 3.

Article 2.7.1 FASoS pre-master's programmes

The faculty offers the following one-year pre-master's programmes:

- Pre-Master's programme 'European Studies'
- Pre-Master's programme 'European Studies on Society, Science and Technology'
- Pre-Master's programme 'Arts, Literature and Society'
- Pre-Master's programme 'Politics and Society'
- Pre-Master's programme 'Arts and Heritage'
- Pre-Master's programme 'Digital Cultures'.
- Pre-Master's programme 'Globalisation and Development Studies'
- Pre-Master (schakelprogramma) 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving'
- Pre-Master (schakelprogramma) 'Politiek en Samenleving'
- Pre-Master (schakelprogramma) 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed'.

Article 2.7.2 Requirements

The pre-master's programme must be successfully completed within 12 months. After this term has expired or if the student has not participated to a satisfactory level in either a qualitative or quantitative way, the student may be debarred from further participation in the pre-master's programme.

Article 2.7.3 Admission

The Admission Board of the related master's programme (article 2.5) decides if an applicant can be admitted to its pre-master's programme. The criteria for the selection are the relevance of the completed bachelor's degree, the applicant's language proficiency and the motivation of the applicant. After the Admissions Board has decided on the application, the applicant will receive a letter of acceptance or rejection to the pre-master's programme.

Article 2.7.4 Applications and eligibility for the pre-master's programme

Application for the pre-master's programme should be done via Studielink. After having registered in Studielink applicants should complete their application by uploading the following documents:

- motivation letter;
- curriculum vitae;
- if applicable a copy of the requested language proficiency test (criteria are listed in article 2.7.5);
- certified copies of the bachelor's degree (diploma and list of grades; if the diploma has not yet been obtained, a list of grades will suffice).

Article 2.7.5 Language requirements for the pre-master's programme

1. Applicants for one of the following pre-master's programmes must meet the language requirements of article 2.3.2:
 - Pre-Master European Studies
 - Pre-Master European Studies, specialisation 'European Studies on Society, Science and Technology'
 - Pre-Master Arts & Culture, specialisation 'Art, Literature and Society'
 - Pre-Master Arts & Culture, specialisation 'Politics and Society'
 - Pre-Master Arts & Culture, specialisation 'Arts and Heritage'
 - Pre-Master Media Studies, specialisation 'Digital Cultures'
 - Pre-Master Globalisation and Development Studies
2. Applicants for one of the following pre-master's programmes must meet the language requirements of article 2.3.1:
 - Pre-Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, specialisatie 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving'
 - Pre-Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, specialisatie 'Politiek en Samenleving'
 - Pre-Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, specialisatie 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed'

Contact hours

Course year 1

About 9.5 contact hours in the first AHE semester and about 9 hours for ALS/PSE.

Due to the individualised nature of the study programme in the second semester (particularly in periods 5/6), it is not possible to give an average number of contact hours.

Average number of contact hours per week for each period

	AHE*	ALS/PSE
Period 1 (8 weeks)	11	10
Period 2 (8 weeks)	9.5	8
Period 3 (4 weeks)	6	6.5
Period 4 (8 weeks)	3	4

*The hours listed for AHE do not include the excursions in periods 1, 2 and 4, or the 5 hours in period 4 for research and writing skills (thesis). Particularly in period 4, the number of contact hours strongly depends on the individual student's choice of study programme.

Contacturen

Studiejaar 1

Contacturen in het eerste semester KCE ongeveer 9.5 en KLS-PSN ongeveer 9 uren.

Vanwege het geïndividualiseerde karakter van de studie in het tweede semester (m.n. in periode 5/6) is het niet mogelijk een gemiddeld aantal contacturen weer te geven.

Contacturen gemiddeld per week per onderwijsperiode

	KCE*	KLS/PS
Periode 1 (8 weken)	11	10
Periode 2 (8 weken)	9,5	8
Periode 3 (4 weken)	6	6,5
Periode 4 (8 weken)	3	4

*De voor KCE vermelde uren zijn exclusief excursies in perioden 1, 2 en 4, en exclusief 5 uren in periode 4 voor schrijf- en onderzoeksvaardigheden (scriptie). M.n. in periode 4 is het aantal contacturen sterk afhankelijk van de studiekeuze van de individuele student.

H Arts & Culture (research), specialisation 'Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology' – RM CAST

- The programme runs over two years (4 semesters):
 - the first year consists of four core modules (RCA5000, RCA5001, RCA5007 and RCA5008, 42 credits), a joint research project (RCA5960, 12 credits) and two modules reflection activities (RCA5961 and RCA5006, 6 credits).
 - the second year comprises a research internship (24 credits), reflection activities (6 credits) and the research and writing of a thesis (30 credits).
- The one-year version runs over two semesters:
 - the first semester consists of the first two core modules from course year 1 (RCA5000 and RCA5001, 24 credits).
 - the second semester comprises the second-year reflection activities (RCA6000, 6 credits) and the research and writing of a thesis (RCA6800, 30 credits).

The final work of the programme is the thesis.

The course descriptions are published in the web catalogue on the Maastricht University website.

Contact hours

Course year	1	2
Contact hours	8	*

Not taken into account are contact hours concerning supervision of students and exams

- year 1: indicated are average contact hours per week per period
- year 2: due to the individual study programme students follow in course year 2 an indication of contact hours can't be given.

I European Studies (research) – RM ES

The students must choose between one of the following specialisations:

- 1 Historicising European Union: Historical/Qualitative Approach;
- 2a Governance and Representation in Europe: Qualitative Approach;
- 2b Governance and Representation in Europe: Quantitative Approach;
- 3a Europe and the World: Qualitative Approach;
- 3b Europe and the World: Quantitative Approach.

The programme runs over two years (four semesters).

1. The first year consists of 60 ECTS;
2. the second year consist of 60 ECTS and offers two graduation options:
 - option 1 internship: consists of an individual research internship (24 credits), a skills course (2 credits) and the research and writing of a thesis (34 credits);
 - option 2 study abroad: consist of an individual study track at a selected partner institution (24 credits), a skills course (2 credits) and the research and writing of a thesis (34 credits).

The programme also offers a double degree track together with the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne. This double degree agreement makes it possible for students to obtain two separate master's degrees in European Studies from each of the two universities. The student in the double degree programme chooses one of the specialisations 2a, 2b, 3a or 3b, but cannot take specialisation 1 'Historicising European Union: Historical/Qualitative Approach'.

1. Students admitted to the double degree track will follow the first year of the Research Master in European Studies at UM, consisting of:
 - three out of seven seminars: the obligatory seminar (in period 1) and the two seminars of his/her specialisation in periods 2 and 4 (total of 21 credits),
 - six out of ten method courses: the obligatory method courses (two in period 1 and one in period 5) and the three method courses of his/her specialisation in periods 2, 3 and 4 (in total 29 credits),
 - three obligatory skills courses in periods 1/2, 3 and 5 (in total 10 credits);
2. In the second year, they will complete modules in the Political Science master's programme at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences at the University of Cologne (26 credits), and write the master's thesis (34 credits) under joint supervision by professors from both institutions. Although students may have courses in Cologne until 30 September, they are still required to submit their master's thesis by 31 August.

The final work of the programme for all three graduation options of the programme and for the double degree track is the thesis.

The course descriptions are published in the web catalogue on the Maastricht University website.

Article 3.2 Final qualifications of the programme

The final qualifications of the master's programmes are set forth in appendix 2 (A to I).

Article 3.3 Form of the programme

All master's programmes are full-time programmes that begin once a year in September.

Article 3.4 Language of instruction

The choice of the language of instruction is made for each individual programme. In Appendix 3 the reasons for this choice are explicated.

3.4.1 Language of instruction Dutch programme (article 1.1 sub G)

The Dutch-language programme Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, including the specialisations 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving', 'Politiek en Samenleving', and 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed', is generally delivered in Dutch. The following applies:

1. The language of instruction and exams is Dutch. If there are fewer than 15 students in the modules of the specialisations KLS or PSN or KCE, they can be mixed with the ALS/PSE/AHE students from the English specialisation, and the education will be offered entirely in English.
2. In the case the education and exams are offered in English, the student in the Dutch language programme must answer the exam questions (and write the papers and thesis) in Dutch.

3.4.2 Language of instruction English programmes (Article 1.1 sub A, B, C, D, E, F, H and I)

The English-language programmes are delivered in English. The language of instruction and exams are English. The student must answer the exam questions (and write the papers and thesis) in English.

Article 3.5 Communication and announcement of decisions

1. Both for communication related to the education and exams, as well as to announce decisions, the Faculty Board, the Board of Examiners and the examiners may at their discretion use either FASoS Student Intranet, the digital learning environment or e-mail via a student's UM account.
2. The student is expected to regularly check his/her university e-mail address, FASoS Student Intranet and the digital learning environment. Information disseminated via e-mail, FASoS Student Intranet and the digital learning environment or the website will be assumed to be known.

Article 3.6 Study load

1. Each course year has a study load of 60 ECTS. The education includes 40 weeks per year. The programmes are full-time programmes; on average this involves 40 hours of study per week.
2. The one-year master's programmes mentioned in Article 1.1 A, B, C, D, E, F and G, are Master of Arts programmes and have a study load of 60 credits.
3. The two-year research master's programmes mentioned in Article 1.1 H and I, are Master of Science programmes and have a study load of 120 credits.
4. The research master's programme mentioned in Article 1.1 H (Arts & Culture (research)), and its only specialisation, Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology) is also offered as a one-year programme. The study load of this one-year programme is 60 credits.

Article 3.7 Components elsewhere (electives outside the faculty)

(further details in Rules & Regulations: Implementing regulations for non-FASoS electives)

1. In principle the student follows the programme as set forth in article 3.1.
2. As part of the Master ESST (article 3.1 B) the student takes one or more courses at one of the partner universities. These courses are automatically accepted in the programme.
3. The Master GDS (article 3.1 F) offers some non-GDS courses (article 3.1 F), partly from other FASoS master's programmes, but the list may also include electives from master's programmes at other UM faculties. These elective courses are automatically approved within the programme.
4. As part of the study abroad graduation option of the RM-ES and the RM-ES Double Degree programme of the RM ES (article 3.1 I), the student takes courses at one of the partner universities with a minimum study load of 26 credits. These courses are automatically accepted in the programme.
5. The results of approved components from other UM faculties as mentioned in paragraph 2 and 3 will be transferred to the student's master's programme.
6. The results of approved components completed at foreign universities as mentioned in paragraphs 2 and 4 must be provided to the Board of Examiners through clear and original written notices by the university concerned. The faculty registers the approved and passed credits, indicating the university where they were obtained; course names and results for individual courses are not registered.
7. In principle, the Board of Examiners does not allow programme components other than those listed in Article 3.1. However, in exceptional cases such as in the framework of a flexible master's programme (article 3.8), the student may – subject to prior approval by the Board of Examiners of the student's own master's programme and of (the Board of Examiners of) the host institution – choose to take components given by another UM faculties, a different Dutch university or a foreign university.

Article 3.8 Flexible master's programme

1. A student registered for the master's programmes may, under certain conditions, formulate an educational programme that deviates from the educational programme stated in Article 3.1 (from A to I inclusive). The composition of such a flexible master's programme must be approved beforehand by the Board of Examiners.
2. The flexible master's programme must have a study load of 60 credits for the one-year Master of Arts programmes and of 120 credits for the two-year Research Master programmes.

3. The Board of Examiners will decide in close consultation with the programme director whether to grant permission for the student's proposal. The Board of Examiners will normally decide within four weeks after receiving the proposal. The timespan for approval depends on staff availability.
4. In granting the permission, the Board of Examiners will indicate which programme offered by the faculty will include the programme formulated by the student for purposes of the Education and Examination Regulations.

Article 3.9 UM honours programme: PREMIUM

PREMIUM is a selective UM honours programme for high-performing, motivated master's students. PREMIUM is not part of the master's programme; it is an extra-curricular programme.

The programme offers students the opportunity to work together with a UM partner (e.g. a large company, NGO or educational institution). It offers students the possibility to test their knowledge and skills in a real-life working environment; students work on a team assignment in an interdisciplinary team. PREMIUM is designed to take approximately 250 hours.

The UM Executive Board decides before the start of the academic year whether or not PREMIUM will be offered in the academic year 2018/19. Information on PREMIUM is published on the Maastricht University website (EDLAB).

Article 3.10 Examination of the programme

1. The student follows the programme as referred to in article 3.1 of the academic year in which s/he starts the programme.
2. If the programme of the two-year master's programmes changes in a later academic year, the student follows the programme of course year 2 according to the academic year in which s/he started course year 2.
3. Special transition rules for the student with a study delay who are confronted with changes in the programme are listed in Appendix 1.

A European Studies - ES

For all three specialisations, the programme's examination consists of:

- passing the exams of course year 1 (total of 60 credits):
 - the four core modules in periods 1, 2, 3 and 4 (42 credits);
 - reflection activities starting in periods 1 and 4 (6 credits) and a joint research project in period 5 (12 credits);
- passing the exams of course year 2 (total of 60 credits):
 - the research internship(s) of semester 1 (24 credits);
 - the reflection activities starting in period 3 (6 credits);
 - the thesis in semester 2 (30 credits).

The examination of the one-year programme consists of passing the exams of:

- the first two core modules in periods 1 and 2 of course year 1 (24 credits);
- the second-year reflection activities starting in period 3 (6 credits); and
- the thesis in semester 2 (30 credits).

I European Studies (research) – RM ES

The programme's examination of the programme consists of:

- passing the exams of course year 1 (total of 60 credits):
 - the one obligatory and the two seminars of the chosen specialisation (total of 21 credits);
 - the three obligatory method courses and the three method courses of the chosen specialisation (total of 29 credits);
 - the three obligatory skills courses (total of 10 credits);
- passing the exams of course year 2 (total of 60 credits):
 - option 1 internship: the individual research internship (24 credits), the skills course (2 credits) and the thesis (34 credits);
 - option 2 study abroad: the individual study track at a selected partner institution (24 credits), the skills course (2 credits) and the thesis (34 credits).

The programme's examination of the Double Degree programme consists of:

- passing the exams of course year 1 at the UM Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (total of 60 credits, as mentioned above);
- passing the exams of course year 2 at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne (total of 60 credits):
 - passing the selected modules of the master's programme in Political Science at the University of Cologne (26 credits); and
 - the thesis (34 credits) under joint supervision by professors from both institutions.

SECTION 4 EDUCATION

Article 4.1 Courses, composition and actual design

1. For the programme components, modules are given with the study load stated in article 3.1.
2. The education is given in forms such as classes, study groups, practical training, lectures and individual supervision.
3. The programme includes courses and practical training (skills and research trainings) in accordance with the given specifications regarding the nature and scope of the student's activities.
4. Article 3.1 (A to I) gives an indication of the number of face-to-face hours per week, but this can differ by period. In semester 2 of many of the one-year programmes or in year 2 of the two-year programmes, no indication can be given of the contact hours per week due to the individual study programme students follow in that semester/year.
5. The Student Portal shows the details of the assessment for the courses the student is registered for. The timetable shows the details (time and location) of the education and collective (MECC) exams the student is registered for.

Article 4.2 Prior knowledge and entrance requirements

The student is allowed to follow the education of the programme s/he is admitted to. Sequence rules may apply for the exams of the programme (article 5.3).

Article 4.3 Course registration

1. The student may participate in the programme modules.
2. The faculty will schedule the master's student for the programme modules (including the first exam sitting of the module). In the case of elective modules or specialisations, the programme director will provide the information on the modules or specialisation for the individual students.

Article 4.4 Attendance and active participation

The Board of Examiners may decide to make active participation in the educational activities that prepare for the exams part of the assessment criteria of the grades for the module exams. A sufficient active participation assessment is given to a student for a module if s/he has participated adequately in the educational activities preparing for the exams. This assessment includes several aspects that are considered relevant for an effective tutorial group meeting (e.g. participating in discussions and asking explanatory questions) as specified at the beginning of the course.

SECTION 5 ASSESSMENT

Article 5.1 General

1. In the course of a module, the extent to which students have successfully achieved the stated learning objectives will be formally assessed.
2. The course book describes the requirements a student must meet to pass the module and the criteria on which the student is assessed.
3. If the course book lists specific criteria for participation in the module exam, the student may only participate in the module exam if s/he meets these criteria.

Article 5.2 Assessment and marks

1. The exam is evaluated by means of a grade or by an excellent/pass/fail or a pass/fail score.
2. Grades are awarded with full and half marks, on a scale of 1 to 10. An explanation of the Dutch grading scale is set forth in the Rules and Regulations.
3. The student passes the module if his/her final mark is 6.0 or higher or at least a pass.

Article 5.2.1 Calculation of the final mark and No Grade

1. If a module exam consists of several questions, the final mark will be the average of the marks of the separate questions. This can be a weighted or unweighted average.
2. If the calculation of the final grade leads to a grade that is not a whole (x.0) or half mark (x.5) as defined in paragraph 2 of article 5.2, the final grade is calculated by rounding up or down arithmetically:
 - b. marks from x.25 to x.74 are rounded to the half mark x.5;
 - c. marks from x.75 to (x+1).24 are rounded to the whole mark x.0.
3. In case the student was registered for a module exam but did not take all required parts of the exam, a 'No Grade' will be registered for the module.
4. If the calculation of the exam grade is the (weighted) average of partial exam results, this calculation could lead to a pass or passing grade even though not all requirements for passing the module (as set forth in article 5.1 paragraph 2) are met. In this case a 'No Grade' will be registered for the module.
5. If different or additional regulations apply, the course book will specify this regulation.

Article 5.3 Sequence of exams

No sequence rules for the order of exams apply to the exams of the following programmes:

- A. European Studies - ES
- C. European Public Affairs – EPA
- D. Arts & Culture, specialisation 'Arts and Heritage: Policy, Management and Education' – AHE
- F. Globalisation and Development Studies – GDS
- G. Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, specialisatie 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed' - KCE

Sequence rules for the order of exams apply to the exams of the following programmes:

- B. For European Studies, specialisation 'European Studies on Society, Science and Technology' – ESST: The student may not take the exams of the second semester until s/he passed the exams of the first semester.
- D. For Arts & Culture: specialisations 'Arts, Literature and Society' (ALS) and 'Politics and Society' (PSE), and for;
- G. Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen: specialisaties 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving' (KLS) and 'Politiek en Samenleving' (PSN):

The student may not take the exams of semester 2, until s/he passes the exams of modules of semester 1.
- E. For Media Studies, specialisation 'Digital Cultures':

The student may not take the exams of the final work (Thesis or Internship Thesis/internship report/and the practical part of the internship) until all exams of the first semester are passed. If only one exam has not been passed the student may ask the programme director to make an exception and allow him/her to finish the final work in the second semester.

If the student fails more exams and has already started the internship, or the request for an exception is denied, the internship has to be redone the next academic year as the internship has to be used for data collection and/or as case study for the internship thesis.

- H. For Arts & Culture (research), specialisation 'Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology'- CAST: The student may not take the exams of the second year until s/he passes the first-year exams.
- J. For European Studies (research):
The student may not take the exams of the second year until s/he passes the first-year exams.

Article 5.4 Scheduling and frequency of exams

1. The student can take exams twice per academic year on dates and times to be determined by the Faculty Board: once during or directly after the course period (first exam sitting) and once during the course of the academic year (resit option).
2. A student can only retake an exam insofar as is needed to pass the examination (article 6.1), with the understanding that a module that is passed (marked 6 or higher, or assessed with at least a pass) cannot be retaken.
3. Exam dates are published on FASoS Student Intranet. The details of the collective (MECC) exams (time and location) are published in the Time Table.
4. In exceptional cases, the Board of Examiners can decide that an exam may be taken at a different date and time than determined in accordance with the first paragraph.
5. Modification of exam dates does not take place in the last eight weeks prior to the initial exam date. In case of modifications in collective (MECC) exams, the Time Table will show the updated exam details.

Article 5.5 Registration for exams: first sitting and resit

1. The faculty registers the master's student for the modules; this registration includes registration for the first sitting of the module exam.
2. The student may only participate in the module's exam if he meets the criteria for this (see article 5.1 sub 3).
3. A student who is entitled to take a module's exam, but who did not pass the exam in the first sit will be registered for the resit exam by the faculty.

Article 5.6 Exam format

1. In principle, module exams are written.
2. Written exams include exams at an allocated exam location, take-home exams and exams in the form of papers/essays, exam taken on a computer and a portfolio. The following applies:
 - For written exams at an allocated exam location the Rules of Procedure for Examinations apply. They have been adopted to provide students with equal opportunities and proper conditions for taking exams.
 - All written assignments, take home exams and papers, including the programme's final work, must be submitted electronically before the set deadline. Assignments and papers that are submitted too late will not be accepted.
 - The guidelines for written assignments and papers that are included in the course book are part of these regulations.
 - If an assignment is written by multiple students, each student can be evaluated individually based on the contribution explicitly made by him/her.
 - The final work of the programme (see Article 3.1 for the programme details) will be evaluated by at least two examiners (the supervisor and a second examiner). The requirements for the final work of the master's programme are set forth in the FASoS Rules & Regulations.
3. Oral exams are taken only by one person at a time, unless the Board of Examiners decides otherwise. The following applies:
 - An examiner shall give an oral exam in the presence of a teaching staff member (second examiner), unless the Board of Examiners has decided otherwise.
 - Oral exams shall take place in public, unless the Board of Examiners or the relevant examiner decides otherwise in a special case or unless the student objects to this.
4. The responsible examiner can decide that attendance will be part of the assessment of participation as stated in article 4.4.

5. If the number of students is small, the responsible examiner can decide that an exam will have a different form than indicated in the course book. The examiner will announce any such decision no later than two weeks before the scheduled exam date.
6. If different or additional regulations apply, the course book will specify this regulation.
7. For the purpose of creating equal opportunities the Board of Examiners can decide to adopt and apply individual exam arrangements suited to the individual situation of the student with disabilities. The Board can apply such an arrangement after having received the request from the Disability Support Office. The Board of Examiners ensures that the allowed adaptations of the exam format are in line with the generic requirements to pass the modules and to graduate.

Article 5.7 Determination and announcement of exam result

1. The Board of Examiners determines the standards for assessing each exam format. The standards are included in the Rules and Regulations.
2. The responsible examiner will determine the result of a module exam and provide the Exam Administration with the necessary information to apprise the student of the result within 13 working days of the date on which it was taken, not counting that day.
3. The Exam Administration will publish the results of the module exam on MyUM within 15 working days of the date on which it was taken, not counting that day.
4. The responsible examiner will determine the result of the final work and provide the Exam Administration with the necessary information to apprise the student of the result within 16 working days of the submission deadline, not counting that day.
5. The Exam Administration will publish the result of the final work on MyUM within 18 working days of the submission deadline, not counting that day.
6. The responsible examiner will determine the result of an oral exam and inform the student and the Exam Administration within 24 hours after it is taken. If more than one student takes the same exam, one after the other, this period may be extended by up to five working days. The Exam Administration will publish the result of the oral exam on MyUM within two working days after receipt of the result.

Article 5.8 Right of inspection

1. Within 10 working days of the date on which the result of a written exam (including a computer-based exam) is announced, not counting that day, the student may, upon request, inspect their evaluated work.
2. The responsible examiner is responsible for the inspection. S/he may organise an open office hour or make individual arrangements with students who ask for a further explanation of the assessment of their exams. The manner in which s/he organises this inspection is indicated in the course pages on the Student Portal.
3. A student may ask the responsible examiner to explain and/or reconsider the result. Such a request will not suspend the period for lodging an appeal, referred to in article 6.6.
4. Within the period referred to in paragraph 1, any interested party may, upon request, inspect the questions and assignments for the written exam and, if possible, the standards on which its assessment was based.

Article 5.9 Period of validity

1. Exams which have been passed are valid for an unlimited period.
2. Contrary to the above, the Board of Examiners may require the student to pass an additional or replacement exam in place of an exam which was passed more than three years ago (in case of a one-year master's programme) or more than four years ago (in case of a two-year master's programme), if the student's knowledge or insight that was examined is demonstrably outdated or the skills that were examined are demonstrably outdated.
3. Partial results or sub-tests and assignments that were passed within a module that was not completed successfully (e.g. assignments, presentations, papers, exams) remain valid for one academic year after the year in which they were passed, unless stated otherwise in the course book.

Article 5.10 Retention period for exams

1. The exercises, answers and the evaluated work of the written exams will be retained in paper or digital form for two years after the exam result is determined.
2. The final work and its assessment form(s) will be kept for at least seven years after the evaluation.

Article 5.11 Exemption

1. The Board of Examiners may, at a student's request and having heard the relevant examiner, grant the student an exemption from taking an exam if s/he demonstrates in writing to their satisfaction that s/he has previously:
 - a. either passed an exam at a university or university of applied sciences that was similar in terms of content and level, or
 - b. gained sufficient knowledge and skills relevant to the exam concerned, either through work or professional experience.
2. An exemption may only pertain to an entire module and not to a component thereof.
3. At most, 20 credits for the one-year programmes and at most 40 credits for the two-year programmes may be earned based on the exemptions granted.
4. The final work for the master's programme is excluded from this exemption option.
5. The Board of Examiners will not grant an exemption based on any exam a student passed outside the programme during any period in which the student was barred by the Board of Examiners from taking exams for the programme because of fraud and/or plagiarism.
6. The same period of validity applies to exemptions as to exam results.

Article 5.12 Fraud

1. 'Fraud', including plagiarism, means actions or omissions by a student that make it impossible in whole or in part to properly evaluate his/her knowledge, understanding and skills.
2. 'Plagiarism' means the presentation of ideas or words from one's own or someone else's sources without proper acknowledgment of the sources.
3. If the Board of Examiners determines that a student has engaged in fraud with respect to an exam or exam component, they can take appropriate measures.
4. In serious cases of fraud, the Board of Examiners can propose to UM's Executive Board that the student(s) concerned be permanently deregistered from the programme and/or to revoke a FASoS Bachelor's or Master's degree that was already granted, and/or to exclude the student from further admission to one of the FASoS bachelor's or master's programmes.
5. Further provisions about what constitutes fraud and which disciplinary measures the Board of Examiners can impose are set forth in the FASoS Rules and Regulations.

Article 5.13 Invalid exam

If an exam involves irregularities that make it impossible to accurately assess the candidate's knowledge, insight and skills, the board of examiners can declare the exam invalid for both the examinee and a group of examinees.

Article 5.14 Unsuitability (Iudicium Abeundi)

1. In exceptional cases and after careful consideration of the interests involved, the Board of Examiners or the dean/the Faculty Board may ask the Executive Board to terminate or, as the case may be, refuse the enrolment of a student in a programme, if that student, through his behavior or opinions ventured, has demonstrated his unsuitability for the practice of one or more professions for which he is trained by the programme he follows, or, as the case may be, for the practical preparation for the practice of the profession.
The dean/the Faculty Board, the Board of Examiners and the Executive Board will reach a decision in accordance with the Iudicium Abeundi Protocol adopted by the Dutch Federation of University Medical Centres on 1 November 2010.
2. The relevant clauses of Maastricht University's Enrolment Provisions apply.

SECTION 6 EXAMINATION

Article 6.1 Examination

1. The Board of Examiners determines the result and date of the examination and issues the certificate referred to in Article 6.3 as soon as a student has satisfied the requirements for the examination programme.
2. Prior to determining the result of the examination, the Board of Examiners may conduct their own investigation of the student's knowledge regarding one or more components or aspects of the programme.
3. To pass the examination, a student must have passed all components.
4. To pass the examination and receive the certificate, a student must also have been registered for the programme during the period in which the exams were taken.
5. A certificate may only be issued after it has been shown that a student has satisfied all the obligations, including paying the tuition fees.
6. The last day of the month in which a student satisfied all the examination obligations will be considered the examination date (graduation date).
7. A student who is close to passing the examination may, stating reasons, ask the Board of Examiners not to determine the result of the examination yet. This request must be submitted at least one month before the final assignment is turned in or the final exam is taken. The Board of Examiners will always grant the request if:
 - the student is selected by the faculty for a double degree, an extra-curricular internship (refer to the concerning procedure as published on FASoS Study Information) or an extra-curricular exchange, or
 - the student holds or will hold a board position for which at least nine months of financial support is awarded from the profiling fund or holds or will hold an 'INKOM' board position.

The Board of Examiners may also grant a request if refusal would result in an exceptional case of extreme unfairness because the student concerned could not have taken the automatic graduation into account when s/he was planning his/her studies.

Article 6.2 Degree

8. The student who has passed the examination of a one-year master's programme will be awarded the degree 'Master of Arts'. This concerns the programmes listed as A-G in article 1.1.
9. The student who has passed the examination of a two-year master's programme will be awarded the degree 'Master of Science'. This concerns the programmes listed as H and I in article 1.1.

Article 6.3 Certificate and statements

1. As proof that the examination was passed, the Board of Examiners will issue a certificate after it has been stated by or on behalf of UM's Executive Board that the procedural requirements for presenting the certificate have been met. The certificate is based on the model adopted by UM's Executive Board. One certificate will be issued per programme, even if the student completes several programmes.
2. The certificate that the examination has been passed also indicates:
 - a. the name of the institution;
 - b. the name of the programme;
 - c. the examination components;
 - d. the degree awarded;
 - e. the date on which the programme was most recently accredited or was subjected to the new programme test.
3. Students who are entitled to be issued a certificate may, stating reasons, ask the Board of Examiners not to do this yet (pursuant to Article 6.1, paragraph 7).
4. The certificate is signed by the chair of the Board of Examiners and the faculty Dean.
5. The certificate is awarded in public, unless the Board of Examiners decides otherwise in exceptional cases.
6. The certificate includes a list of the examination components, the 'List of Exam Subjects'.

7. The Board of Examiners includes a 'Diploma Supplement' as referred to in Article 7.11(4) of the Act with the certificate. This diploma supplement is based on the model adopted by UM's Executive Board, which is in compliance with the agreed European standard format.
8. The Board of Examiners may award the 'Cum Laude'. The criteria for graduating with the designation Cum Laude are listed in the Rules and Regulations.
9. Students who have passed more than one exam and who cannot be issued a certificate will, upon request, receive a statement issued by the Board of Examiners that at least indicates the exams that they passed.

Article 6.4 Grade point average (GPA)

A student can ask the Office of Student Affairs to provide him/her with a transcript that includes the GPA earned in the programme; this GPA provides a reflection of the student's academic performance. The GPA is not listed on the certificate, the attached diploma supplement or the List of Exam Subjects. The criteria for the calculation of the GPA are listed in the Rules and Regulations.

Article 6.5 Certificate UM honours programme

As proof that a student has successfully completed the UM honours programme PREMIUM referred to in Article 3.9, the UM Executive Board issues a certificate in addition to the one referred to in Article 6.3.

Article 6.6 Right of appeal

Within six weeks after the decision by the examiner and the Board of Examiners is announced, the student may appeal this decision to UM's Complaints Service Point.

The appeal must be signed, must include a date and the name and address of the party lodging the appeal, must indicate the grounds for the appeal and, if possible, must include a copy of the decision being appealed.

In section VIII of the FASoS Rules and Regulations, which is attached to these regulations, the procedures for inspection, explanation and appeal of exams are explained. An elaborate explanation of these procedures can also be found on FASoS Student Intranet.

SECTION 7 STUDY GUIDANCE

Article 7.1 Study progress administration

The faculty will record the students' individual study results and make them available through MyUM. A student can ask the Office of Student Affairs for a certified printed copy of his/her results.

Article 7.2 Study guidance

Study guidance is offered in various ways, both by the faculty (e.g. student advisers) and by the university (e.g. student deans, psychologists). The faculty guidance is set forth in this article.

1. The faculty will provide an introduction and study guidance for the student registered for the programme, which also includes orientating them about possible study paths within and outside the study programme.
2. The study guidance includes:
 - a. an introduction in the week preceding semester 1 of the first academic year;
 - b. group and individual advice on possible study paths in and outside the programme, partly with a view to informing the student about the professional options after completing the programme and opportunities for immediately entering the labour market after obtaining the master's degree;
 - c. group and individual advice on study skills, study planning and choices for continuing study paths;
 - d. offering referrals and help if a student experiences problems during his/her studies.

SECTION 8 TRANSITIONAL AND FINAL PROVISIONS

Article 8.1 Amendments

1. Amendments to these regulations may be adopted in a separate decision by the Faculty Board, after a recommendation is received from the programme committee and after consent from or consultation with the Faculty Council.
2. An amendment to these regulations will not pertain to the current academic year, unless the interests of the students will not be reasonably harmed as a result.
3. In addition, amendments may not affect, to the students' detriment, a decision regarding a student which has been taken by the Board of Examiners pursuant to these regulations.

Article 8.2 Notice

1. The Faculty Board ensures that proper notice will be given of these regulations, to the FASoS Rules and Regulations adopted by the Board of Examiners and any changes to these regulations by, for example, placing such notice on FASoS Student Intranet.
2. Any interested party may obtain a copy of the documents referred to in paragraph 1 from the Faculty Office.

Article 8.2a Evaluation

The Faculty Board will ensure that the education of the programme is regularly evaluated, assessing at least – for the purpose of monitoring and if necessary adapting the student workload – the amount of time students need to complete their duties as set out therein.

Article 8.3 Unforeseen cases/Hardship clause

1. In cases not covered or not clearly covered by these regulations, decisions are taken by or on behalf of the Faculty Board, after it has consulted with the Board of Examiners.
2. In individual cases in which application of the Education and Examination Regulations would lead to manifestly unreasonable results, the Board of Examiners can deviate from the stated regulations in the student's favour.

Article 8.4 Effective date

This set of regulations will come into force on 1 September 2018 and will apply to the 2018/19 academic year.

Adopted by the Faculty Board on 21 March 2018.

Appendix 1 Transition rules for students with study delay

Transition rules for students who started the master's programmes in or before the 2017/18 academic year

I General rules

A module is only passed if all its requirements (including the minimum attendance requirement) are passed. According to the Education and Examination Rules, partial results passed (e.g. assignments, presentations, papers, exams) remain valid for one academic year after the year in which they were passed, unless stated otherwise in the course book.

- The student who took a module in 2017/18 but has not passed the module exam before the start of the new 2018/19 academic year, will have to pass the module exam in 2018/19 or else retake the complete module.
- The student who took a module before 2017/18 but has not passed the module exam before the start of the new 2018/19 academic year, has to retake the module and pass all requirements of the 2018/19 module.
- If the student has not passed a module that has ceased to exist the Board or Examiners will decide on a replacement subject.

APPENDIX 2 Final Qualifications master's programmes A - I

A Master European Studies

The Degree of Master of Arts (MA) of European Studies is awarded to students who:

have demonstrated knowledge and understanding of the field of European Studies that is founded upon and extends and enhances their BA level, and that provides a basis or opportunity for originality in developing and/or applying ideas, often within a research context.

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I) demonstrate advanced knowledge and understanding of:

- A1. the historical, political, societal, and international context of the process of European integration since 1945
- A2. the multi-level system of actors, institutions, norms and practices that make up European governance, and the relations between the EU, its Member States and other international bodies
- A3. the policy process from agenda-setting to implementation and evaluation, various EU public policies, and the implications of the integration process for European politics and society (specialisation 1)
- A4. the establishment of the EU as an international actor as a result of its various external relations policies (specialisation 2)
- A5. the changing global environment and its impact on relations between Europe and the rest of the world, including the challenges resulting from an increasingly complex and interconnected world (specialisation 3)
- A6. a broad range of academic concepts, frameworks and theories from history, political science, public administration, international relations, sociology and related academic disciplines aimed at understanding the process of European integration
- A7. qualitative and quantitative research methods appropriate for answering advanced academic questions about the process of European integration
- A8. how to design, plan and implement an independent research project in the field of European Studies

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

can apply their knowledge and understanding, and problem solving abilities in new or unfamiliar environments within broader (or multidisciplinary) contexts related to European Studies. MA ES graduates have the ability to:

- B1. apply knowledge and understanding of the process of European integration, within its historical, political, societal, and international contexts, to academic questions
- B2. apply specialist knowledge and understanding of the EU policy process (specialisation 1), the establishment of the EU as an international actor (specialisation 2), and the changing global environment and the relations between Europe and the rest of the world (specialisation 3) to advanced academic questions and policy-relevant cases
- B3. compare, select, and apply the appropriate academic concepts, frameworks and theories for answering advanced academic questions on the process of European integration
- B4. compare, select, and apply the appropriate qualitative or quantitative research methods for answering advanced academic questions on the process of European integration
- B5. critically appraise the quality of various source materials
- B6. design, plan and implement an independent research project, which has the potential to make an original contribution to the state of the art research in the field of European Studies
- B7. integrate and apply substantive knowledge, theories and methods in the field of European Studies to new research puzzles in order to facilitate substantive, theoretical or methodological innovation
- B8. use ethical rules related to scholarly work, including styles of acknowledgement, use of other persons' sources, and referencing

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

have the ability to integrate knowledge and handle complexity, and formulate judgments with incomplete or limited information, but that include reflecting on social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of their knowledge and judgments. MA ES graduates have the ability to:

- C1. appraise, contextualise and judge past and ongoing developments in the process of European integration, including its historical, political, societal, and international context
- C2. evaluate, compare and develop scholarly arguments in the field of European Studies in view of forming a judgement on the state of the art of research in the field and its original contribution
- C3. pinpoint the key issues and perspectives about the process of European integration in the context of informational complexity – information overload as well as incomplete or limited information
- C4. identify, retrieve, and evaluate sources and data to build evidence-based arguments to explain past and ongoing developments related to the process of European integration
- C5. reach well-reasoned conclusions about the process of European integration through integrating and combining substantive knowledge, theories and methods from the diverse field of European Studies;
- C6. evaluate and reflect on the societal and ethical implications of conclusions, with awareness to the inter-cultural context, drawn on the basis of academic and policy research related to the process of European integration

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

can communicate their conclusions, and the knowledge and rationale underpinning these, to specialist and non-specialist European and international audiences clearly and unambiguously. MA ES graduates have the ability to:

- D1. participate in scholarly and policy debates on European integration with an awareness to the sensitivities of inter-cultural communication
- D2. present ideas and research findings on European integration in spoken English to specialist and non-specialist European and international audiences using an appropriate register, vocabulary and tone
- D3. express ideas and research findings on European integration to specialist European and international academic audiences in written academic English through the medium of academic papers
- D4. express ideas and research findings on European integration tailored to European and international policy audiences and the general public in written English using different types of mediums, including policy papers, opinion articles, online communication and social media

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

have the learning skills to allow them to continue to study in a manner that may be largely self-directed or autonomous. MA ES graduates have the ability to:

- E1. critically reflect upon one's own work and performance in an international professional environment, display an openness to feedback, and adapt their work accordingly
- E2. autonomously generate new ideas related to the process of European integration, identify new academic questions and policy problems, and stay up-to-date with the academic and policy literature
- E3. autonomously make substantive choices when analysing academic questions and policy problems related to the process of European integration
- E4. autonomously set and implement objectives, priorities and work plans, while managing time
- E5. function in a group setting and work in an international professional environment

B Master European Studies, specialisation ESST

The Degree of Master of Arts (MA) of European Studies, specialisation 'European Studies on Society, Science and Technology' is awarded to students who are able to:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. Explain the main concepts and theoretical models developed to analyse the implications of technological change (in sociological, anthropological, historic, economic and political/policy terms).
- A2. Understand and explain the interrelations between science and society, and the role of the government, institutions, and industry on how scientific knowledge is produced.
- A3. Understand how institutional patterns and mechanisms structure the mutual interaction between knowledge production, power relations and public policy.
- A4. Understand and interpret the historical developments of science and technology and explain the complexities involved in the processes of building up credible scientific facts.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. Apply social-constructivist approaches (e.g. the STS approach) as an analytical lens in an academic paper or public debate.
- B2. Explain and analyse the contemporary challenges and dynamics of knowledge production in the sciences on macro-, meso- and micro-level.
- B3. Deconstruct discourses by policy makers (verbal and written) in the governance of technological change applying STS, economic, political and policy concepts and analytical tools.
- B4. Apply the insights of STS about specific fields in which science is politically contested and/or mobilised for the purpose of governance.
- B5. Make effective use of historic and qualitative research methods to study technological change and its societal implications.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. Formulate a clear/focused/well-formulated and relevant research question in the STS domain of study.
- C2. Critically reflect and articulate their position regarding issues of ethical and academic integrity during (verbal and written) debates about technological change by formulating a good chain of arguments (from an STS perspective).
- C3. Assess the (social, economic and governance) implications of technological change.
- C4. Engage in an informed way in debates about the governance of science and democratization of science in modern societies.

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. Act as constructive team-members.
- D2. Communicate their academic findings to a professional, academic and lay audience.
- D3. Write a research proposal on an ESST topic.
- D4. Communicate their research findings via a debate or academic paper.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. Find relevant literature in the library system, and to apply the APA referencing system in consistent and correct way in their research output.
- E2. Gather fieldwork data by conducting an interview.
- E3. Conduct a historical analysis and work with historical sources as main or auxiliary research method.
- E4. Develop an attitude that economics is primarily a social – not a natural – science and as such needs to incorporate the social, political, and historical influences in the analysis of policy making.
- E5. Develop research questions and research designs to study technological change in contemporary societies.

C Master European Public Affairs

The Degree of Master of Arts (MA) of European Public Affairs is awarded to students who are able to:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. demonstrate advanced knowledge of the theories and methods of policy analysis.
- A2. demonstrate advanced knowledge of the academic concepts and theories relevant to understanding the system of European governance.
- A3. demonstrate advanced knowledge of how policy is made in the European Union in the main fields of the Union's competences, and per stage of the policy process.
- A4. demonstrate advanced knowledge of contemporary events, developments and debates related to the process of European integration.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. tackle a specific EU-related policy problem, by
 - a. retrieving the appropriate primary and secondary sources,
 - b. applying the relevant academic theories and methods,
 - c. analysing the collected data,
 - d. formulating feasible policy solutions
 - e. reporting on the above process.
- B2. apply the skills and knowledge gained in a specific working environment.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. understand, use and reflect upon different theoretical perspectives on policy analysis, and are able to formulate relevant research questions and related research designs.
- C2. understand, reflect upon and manage the complexity of EU-related policy problems, and they have the ability to formulate specific courses of action and policy recommendations, whilst being aware of the impact of these changes.

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. write an academic thesis.
- D2. write a policy brief.
- D3. demonstrate a high level of presentation and 'pitching' skills of policy analyses and solutions.
- D4. demonstrate a high level of debating skills.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1 demonstrate the skill to identify relevant (academic) sources for research projects.
- E2 demonstrate the skills to constructively work and cooperate in international and interdisciplinary teams.
- E3 demonstrate the skills to (jointly) plan and manage (group) projects within a strict time frame.
- E4 demonstrate the skill to reflect upon one's own learning process.

D Master Arts & Culture

The Degree of Master of Arts (MA) of Arts & culture is awarded to students who are able to:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the interdisciplinary field with a focus on arts, culture or politics.
- A2. develop final works relevant to society and the academic field.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. apply a well-defined cultural framework to the analysis of current national and international societal issues (related to the field of arts, culture or politics, and the interaction between these domains).
- B2. apply their knowledge and understanding of the field offered in the specialisation in both academic and professional contexts.
- B3. link theory to practice by placing present-day societal issues related to the field of arts, culture or politics in their specific theoretical contexts.
- B4. develop knowledge into conceptual frameworks to provide insight into complex issues related to the arts, culture or politics.
- B5. handle the complexities and problems in issues that are related to the arts, culture or politics that have resulted from differences in academic discipline, professional context and country-specific background.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. formulate critical judgements while taking their societal and academic responsibilities into account.
- C2. successfully design a relevant research question and conduct research, both independently and in a team.
- C3. identify, understand and assess implicit assumptions on topics related to their specialisation.

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. unambiguously communicate their conclusions, insights, motives and considerations orally and in writing to specialist and non-specialist audiences.
- D2. create and use the appropriate communication tools, such as visual resources used to support oral presentations.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. reflect on their own learning process and continue developing themselves individually and together with others.
- E2. provide informed feedback and respond to received feedback in a meaningful and responsible way.
- E3. actively and constructively work in (international or multidisciplinary or interdisciplinary) teams.

D1 Final Qualifications Master Arts & culture, specialisation 'Arts, Literature and Society' and

D2 Master Arts & culture, specialisation 'Politics and Society'

Upon completion of the specialisation 'Arts, Literature and Society' (ALS) or 'Politics and Society' (PSE) of the Master Arts & culture graduates are able to:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. identify and describe topical developments in contemporary society with a focus on politics, culture, and the arts.
- A2. situate these developments within their relevant intellectual and historical contexts and interpret them as forms of cultural (re)production.

- A3. demonstrate knowledge about the theoretical frameworks from relevant disciplines (e.g. philosophy, arts and literature studies, history, sociology, political science, and science and technology studies) that explain the topical developments in society.
- A4. demonstrate insight into the interdisciplinary study of topical developments that take place in the fields of politics, culture, and the arts.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. contribute (via e.g. presentation, paper) to interdisciplinary research on topical developments in contemporary society with a focus on politics, culture, and the arts.
- B2. critically reflect on, position themselves in, and participate in current academic and societal debates in politics, culture, and the arts.
- B3. link acquired academic knowledge (specified under Dublin descriptor 1) to non-academic professional contexts (e.g. policy making, education, media, journalism, creative industries).

- D2. express themselves orally and in writing at an advanced academic level.
- D3. give an appealing, well-informed and substantiated oral presentation supported by strong visuals.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. possess the attitude, critical mind, self-reflection and skills needed to continue learning.
- E2. reflect on their own learning process and are able to continue developing themselves individually and together with others.
- E3. practice a profession at an academic master level in national, international and interdisciplinary teams within the broad cultural sector.

E Master Media Studies, specialisation 'Digital Cultures'

The Degree of Master of Arts (MA) of Media Studies is awarded to students who:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. demonstrate advanced knowledge (theories, concepts and methods) and understanding of user practices and trends in digital cultures and their social, cultural and political implications (as deriving from e.g. media studies, media philosophy and critical theory, history of media, and science and technology studies).
- A2. demonstrate advanced knowledge and understanding of the interrelations between user practices, technologies, and social dynamics in digital cultures.
- A3. demonstrate knowledge of contemporary events in digital cultures (e.g. protest movements, whistle blowing), developments (e.g. retro movements, digital public spheres) and debates (e.g. virtualisation, privacy/surveillance, ownership) and are able to put them into historical context.
- A4. analyse processes of (digital) media transformations with a focus on user practices both on an
 - A4.1 individual and
 - A4.2 societal level.
- A5. demonstrate knowledge of different qualitative research methods, and reflect on their (interdisciplinary) relevance for a research problem and their limitations.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. analyse and discuss the debates around the introduction of new digital technologies and how users engage with them from an interdisciplinary perspective.
- B2. demonstrate the skills to cooperate constructively in international multidisciplinary and intercultural teams by applying relevant academic theories and research methods in:
 - 2.1 informed debates about new issues of digital cultures in academic interdisciplinary contexts;
 - 2.2 the field of digital media production and distribution.
- B3. identify and analyse the complex interplay of individual experiences, social, scientific and technological developments in the context of digital cultures.
- B4. select an appropriate research design and method(s) to address a specific research question; collect and analyse qualitative data relevant to answering the research question.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. identify and analyse ethical and social consequences of developments in (digital) media cultures (e.g. privacy, copyright, surveillance).
- C2. evaluate the impact of digital media developments and related user practices.
- C3. evaluate the relevance of a chosen research method in relation to the problem to be investigated

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. build a coherent argumentation and engage critically in debates.
- D2. attune their written and oral debates/presentations to diverse audiences.
- D3. use various formats for describing and presenting their (research) findings (e.g. academic papers, reports, weblogs, short audio documentaries and video essays).
- D4. communicate, learn and collaborate in intercultural teams.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. transfer and apply their knowledge and understanding to address emerging issues, media practices and technologies.
- E2. act and engage in life-long learning independently by applying the acquired generic skills such as information retrieval, and critical, comparative analysis and reflection on academic literature.
- E3. reflect upon their own learning process and can utilize these reflections to further develop their (a) academic and (b) professional skills.
- E4. learn how to update their media skills (e.g. audio and video editing, podcasting) and to use new software products.

F Master Globalisation and Development Studies

Graduates of the Globalisation and Development Studies Programme are able to:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. describe the intellectual roots of the field of Globalisation and Development Studies from various disciplinary viewpoints, including past and contemporary theories of Globalisation and Development.
- A2. identify and correctly employ the main concepts used in the field of Globalisation & Development Studies.

- A5. identify commonly used qualitative and quantitative social science methodologies in the field of Globalisation & Development Studies.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. synthesise past and contemporary theories of Globalisation and Development and demonstrate an understanding of how these have contributed to major relevant theoretical debates in this field of study.
- B2. relate and apply concepts and theories in the field of Globalisation & Development Studies to 'real life', problem-oriented situations that characterize interdisciplinary and multi-disciplinary research and professional fields in the area of Globalisation and Development.
- B3. design research in the field of Globalisation and Development that allows them to carry out an internship, fieldwork or desk study in an ethical manner.
- B4. express a sensitivity towards the ethical considerations that research in the field of Globalisation and Development entails.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. weigh arguments, formulate an opinion and position themselves in academic debates in the field of Globalisation and Development by using their knowledge of theory, methodology, research design, data and analytical methods acquired in the program.
- C2. assess policies, programs and projects related to Globalisation and Development by using the conceptual and analytical tools acquired throughout the program.
- C3. appraise and evaluate recent empirical developments in pertaining to Globalisation and Development.
- C4. reflect ethically on their knowledge and research, and develop a socially responsible attitude towards application of knowledge both in their exam options and in their work during and after their education.
- C5. analyse how linkages between social phenomena, different institutional actors, social forces and forms of agency, occurring in different parts of the world affect the way these phenomena take shape locally and how they connect the Global North and Global South as well as places within the Global South.
- C6. construct a research problem with a focus on contemporary phenomena in the field of Globalisation & Development and choose and apply suitable qualitative and quantitative social science methodologies to analyze the problem.

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. communicate research results orally and in written form in proper academic English to academics and professionals within and outside the field of Globalisation and Development – from national and international academic, governmental and non-governmental organizations – and with non-specialist civil society audiences.

- D2. propose and defend substantive epistemological, ontological and methodological choices in terms of both their societal and theoretical relevance.
- D3. perform in multidisciplinary teams by employing knowledge gained throughout the programme.
- D4. display a professional working attitude by cooperating in diverse teams and professional networks in culturally heterogeneous environments.
- D5. use information and communication technologies (Internet, PowerPoint, social networking tools) to share knowledge globally.

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. develop a comprehensive literature search and bibliographic analysis using classic library resources as well as internet sources.
- E2. practice time management and to work under pressure within a working environment.
- E3. demonstrate an attitude of independently keeping track of international academic and professional developments in the field of Globalisation & Development.
- E4. critically reassess their own views in light of the latest empirical and theoretical developments in the field.

G Eindkwalificaties Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen

Na voltooiing van de Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen zijn de afgestudeerden tot het volgende in staat:

A. Kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. kennis en inzicht te demonstreren in het interdisciplinaire terrein van de cultuurwetenschappen op het gebied van cultuur, de kunsten of de politiek.
- A2. eindwerk(en) te ontwikkelen met een relevantie voor de maatschappij en het academische veld.

B. Toepassen van kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. een welomschreven cultureel kader (cultuurbegrip) te hanteren in hun analyse van huidige nationale en internationale maatschappelijke vraagstukken (op het gebied van cultuur, de kunsten of de politiek en de interactie tussen deze domeinen).
- B2. hun verworven kennis en inzicht toe te passen binnen het gebied dat aangeboden wordt in de specialisatie in wetenschappelijke en professionele contexten.
- B3. theorie aan praktijk te verbinden door huidige maatschappelijke vraagstukken op het gebied van cultuur, de kunsten of de politiek in hun specifieke theoretische context te plaatsen.
- B4. om kennis te ontwikkelen in conceptuele kaders om inzicht te geven in complexe vraagstukken op het gebied van cultuur, de kunsten of de politiek.
- B5. om te gaan met de complexiteiten en de problemen in de vraagstukken op het gebied van cultuur, de kunst of de politiek die het gevolg zijn van verschillen in de academische discipline, professionele context en land-specifieke achtergrond.

C. Oordeelsvorming (Dublin Descriptor III)

- C1. een kritisch oordeel te formuleren en daarbij tevens rekening te houden met hun maatschappelijke en wetenschappelijke verantwoordelijkheden.
- C2. met succes een relevante onderzoeksvraag te formuleren en onderzoek te doen, zowel individueel als in een teamverband.
- C3. impliciete veronderstellingen - over onderwerpen die verband houden met de gekozen specialisatie - te identificeren, te begrijpen en te beoordelen.

D. Communicatie (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. hun conclusies, inzichten, motieven en overwegingen - in mondelinge en schriftelijke vorm - ondubbelzinnig mede te delen aan een publiek van specialisten en niet-specialisten.
- D2. de gepaste hulpmiddelen te vervaardigen en te hanteren, zoals visuele middelen bij mondelinge presentaties.

E. Leervaardigheden (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. op hun eigen leerproces te reflecteren en zichzelf blijvend te ontwikkelen, zowel individueel als in groepsverband.
- E2. gefundeerde feedback te geven en op een zinvolle en verantwoorde manier te reageren op ontvangen feedback.
- E3. actief en constructief te werken in (internationale en multidisciplinaire of interdisciplinaire) teams

G1 Eindkwalificaties Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen specialisatie 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving', en

G2 Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen specialisatie 'Politiek en Samenleving'

Na voltooiing van de specialisatie 'Kunst, Literatuur en Samenleving' (KLS) of 'Politiek en Samenleving' (PSN) van de Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen zijn de afgestudeerden tot het volgende in staat:

A. Kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. identificeren en beschrijven van actuele ontwikkelingen in de hedendaagse maatschappij, met nadruk op politiek, cultuur en de kunsten.

- A2. situeren van deze ontwikkelingen in hun relevante intellectuele en historische contexten en deze interpreteren als vormen van culturele (re)productie.
- A3. demonstreren van kennis van theoretische kaders uit relevante disciplines (bijv. filosofie, kunst- en literatuurstudies, geschiedenis, sociologie, politieke wetenschappen en wetenschap- en technologiestudies) die actuele ontwikkelingen in de hedendaagse maatschappij verklaren.
- A4. demonstreren van inzicht in de interdisciplinaire studie van actuele ontwikkelingen die plaatsvinden in de politiek, cultuur en de kunsten.

B. Toepassen van kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. bijdragen (door middel van presentaties en schriftelijke werkstukken) aan interdisciplinair onderzoek naar actuele ontwikkelingen in de hedendaagse maatschappij, met nadruk op politiek, cultuur en de kunsten.
- B2. kritisch reflecteren op, zich positioneren in en deelnemen aan actuele academische en maatschappelijke debatten in politiek, cultuur en de kunsten.
- B3. verbinden van verworven academische kennis (gespecificeerd onder Dublin descriptor 1) met niet-academische professionele contexten (bijv. beleidsvorming, onderwijs, media, journalistiek, creatieve industrieën).

C. Oordeelsvorming (Dublin descriptor III)

- C1. identificeren, begrijpen en beoordelen van impliciete en/of expliciete aannames in politieke, culturele en artistieke debatten.
- C2. integreren en kwalificeren van verworven kennis in een evaluatieve analyse van een actuele casus in de politiek, cultuur en de kunsten.
- C3. kritisch beoordelen van de evaluatieve analyses waarbij rekenschap wordt afgelegd van hun academische en maatschappelijke relevantie.

D. Communicatie (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. overbrengen van eigen bevindingen, posities, motieven en conclusies, en die van anderen, aan specialistische en niet-specialistische doelgroepen.
- D2. selecteren en gebruiken van geschikte hulpmiddelen ter communicatie met diverse doelgroepen in verschillende omgevingen (bijv. academische publicaties, rapporten, sociale media, mondelinge presentaties, kranten, radio).

E. Leervaardigheden (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. detecteren en analyseren van onderzoeksproblemen en formuleren van onderzoeksvragen, individueel en in groepsverband.
- E2. kritisch en effectief reflecteren op eigen werk en op dat van anderen in academische en professionele contexten en effectief verwerken van kritiek en feedback van anderen op eigen werk.
- E3. ontwikkelen van een verantwoordelijke en professionele houding die nodig is voor onafhankelijk leren.

G3 Eindkwalificaties specialisatie 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed' - KCE

Na voltooiing van de specialisatie 'Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed' (KCE) van de Master Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen zijn de afgestudeerden tot het volgende in staat:

A. Kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor I)

- A1. te beschikken over gevorderde kennis van en inzicht in belangrijke vraagstukken en praktijken rond kunst, cultuur en erfgoed (inclusief geschiedenis, kunstgeschiedenis, herinneringspraktijken, sociale wetenschappen – politiek, economisch en maatschappelijk – en organisatorische kwesties) en dit ook kunnen demonstreren.
- A2. een onderscheid te maken tussen verschillende definities, betekenissen en functies van kunst, cultuur en erfgoed, en begrijpen hun afhankelijkheid van tijd, plaats en sociale groepen.
- A3. een onderscheid te maken tussen relevante actoren en factoren in verschillende kunst-, cultuur en erfgoedpraktijken.

A4. te beschikken over gevorderde kennis van en inzicht in belangrijke theorieën, praktijken, concepten en methodologieën om zowel het wetenschappelijke als professionele veld van Kunst, Cultuur en Erfgoed te onderzoeken.

B. Toepassen van kennis en inzicht (Dublin Descriptor II)

- B1. de onder A genoemde kennis, inzichten en vaardigheden op een zinvolle manier toe te passen in bestaande en nieuwe professionele en wetenschappelijke praktijken.
- B2. relevante (digitale) informatie(bronnen) te vinden, selecteren en gebruiken en een onderscheid te maken tussen verschillende types van bronnen.
- B3. theorie te koppelen aan de praktijk en om een geschikte onderzoeksmethode te selecteren in de toepassing van hun kennis en inzicht.
- B4. een academische of non-academische tekst of opiniestuk te analyseren, een argument op een logische en overtuigende manier op te bouwen en dit te illustreren met cases en voorbeelden van het culturele veld.
- B5. professionele vaardigheden en competenties te verwerven in verband met Kunsten en Erfgoed management, Kunst marketing en Culturele beleidsanalyse.
- B6. afhankelijk van hun geselecteerde keuzevakken na periode 2, hun specifieke kennis en vaardigheden op een betekenisvolle manier toe te passen op een specifieke culturele praktijk:
 - Kunst en Publiek: onderwijs/mediation, curatoren & onderzoek naar bezoekers
 - Cultuur en economie: ondernemerschap, kunstmarkt, 'creative cities'
 - Erfgoed en maatschappij: erfgoed, conservering, politiek van de herinnering

C. Oordeelsvorming (Dublin Descriptor III)

- C1. een onafhankelijk kritisch standpunt te bepalen en te verdedigen in wetenschappelijke en maatschappelijke debatten over de onder A genoemde vraagstukken en perspectieven.
- C2. hun ethische rol en sociale en academische verantwoordelijkheden in ogenschouw te nemen, binnen verschillende culturele werkvelden.
- C3. om impliciete en expliciete waardeoordelen rond kunst, cultuur en erfgoed te identificeren, analyseren, vergelijken en te beoordelen.

D. Communicatie (Dublin Descriptor IV)

- D1. motieven en overwegingen - in mondelinge en schriftelijke vorm - ondubbelzinnig mede te delen aan een publiek van specialisten en niet-specialisten in het domein van kunst, cultuur en erfgoed.
- D2. zichzelf - in mondelinge en schriftelijke vorm - uit te drukken op een geavanceerd academisch niveau.
- D3. een aantrekkelijke, goed geïnformeerde en onderbouwde mondelinge presentatie te geven die ondersteund is door sterke beeldmaterialen.

E. Leervaardigheden (Dublin Descriptor V)

- E1. te beschikken over de attitude, kritische zin, zelfreflectie en vaardigheden om te blijven leren.
- E2. op hun eigen leerproces te reflecteren en zich blijvend te ontwikkelen, individueel en in samenwerking met anderen.
- E3. een beroep uit te oefenen op academisch masterniveau in nationale, internationale en interdisciplinaire teams binnen de brede culturele sector.

H Final qualifications Master of Science of Arts & Culture, specialisation 'Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology'

The Degree of Master of Science (MSc) of 'Arts & Culture, specialisation Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology' is awarded to students who:

A. Substantive competencies

have demonstrated knowledge and understanding of theories and approaches relevant for studying the cultures of arts, science and technology, and have the ability to make original links between the domains of arts, science and technology. Graduates are able to:

- A1. gain insight in the structure of and knowledge production in the academic fields relevant for studying the cultures of arts, science, and technology (journals, handbooks, academic societies, conferences).
- A2. acquire an overview of theories and approaches relevant to studying the cultures of arts, science and technology (especially from history, philosophy, the qualitative social sciences and arts studies).
- A3. compare concepts, models and theories from different sub-disciplines and levels of analysis.
- A4. develop interactional expertise* in art, science and technology.
- A5. identify and formulate new topics and questions relevant for studying the cultures of arts, science and technology.

B. Research competencies have research competencies that enable them to apply their knowledge, understanding and problem solving abilities in new or unfamiliar environments within broader contexts related to studying the cultures of arts, science and technology. Graduates are able to:

- B1. do a comprehensive literature search and bibliographical analysis, using classic library resources as well as Internet sources.
- B2. critically appraise the quality of various source materials.
- B3. use relevant methodologies from the humanities and qualitative social sciences, notably qualitative interviewing, conceptual analysis, archival research, ethnography, rhetorical analysis (of texts and images), narrative analysis, and discourse analysis.
- B4. select the appropriate research methodology for a particular research question
- B5. identify new events, relations, and patterns in seemingly trivial data.
- B6. critically reflect upon the relation between methodology, theoretical framework, and empirical research site.
- B7. transfer and apply concepts, theories and methods from an established field of study to a new research domain so as to facilitate substantive, theoretical and methodological innovation.

C. Integrative competencies

have the ability to integrate knowledge and handle complexity, and formulate judgments with incomplete or limited information. This includes reflecting on social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of their knowledge and judgments. Graduates are able to:

- C1. evaluate a scholarly argument in the academic fields relevant for studying the cultures of arts, science and technology.
- C2. evaluate and handle complex situations with incomplete information.
- C3. critically appraise standard concepts, theories and methods in the academic fields relevant for studying the cultures of arts, science and technology.
- C4. combine concepts, theories and methods from diverse disciplines in a well-reasoned manner, and without falling into the trap of eclectic superficiality.
- C5. discuss recent developments in the cultures of science, technology and the arts and their implications for society.
- C6. acquire knowledge of and the ability to use ethical rules related to scholarly work (including styles of acknowledgement, use of other persons' sources, referencing, peer review, anonymity).
- C7. contribute in an original and sound scholarly way to the body of knowledge production, as certified by the 'master piece' of a final thesis, as stepping stone for peer-reviewed international journal article.

D. Professional competencies

can communicate their conclusions, and the knowledge and rationale underpinning these, to specialist and non-specialist audiences clearly and unambiguously. Graduates are able to:

- D1. contribute to the various forms of knowledge output used in the academic fields studying the cultures of arts, science, and technology (e.g. review article, research paper, conference presentation, research proposal, edited volume, poster, or exhibition catalogue).
- D2. participate in scholarly discussions.
- D3. contribute to outreach activities and societal debates.
- D4. communicate research results to other researchers within and outside the field of cultural studies of arts, science, and technology.
- D5. relate one's research project to other disciplinary frameworks.
- D6. work in a multi-disciplinary research team.
- D7. do adequate time management.
- D8. acquire practical knowledge concerning national and international research funding possibilities, and the ability to apply to such funds.

E. Learning competencies

have the learning skills to allow them to continue to study in a manner that may be largely self-directed or autonomous. Graduates are able to:

- E1. critically reflect upon one's own work and performance, and to accordingly adapt that work.
- E2. make one's own substantive choices related to research topic, questions, and approach; also in relation to societal circumstances.
- E3. acquire an attitude of life-long learning.
- E4. acquire an original and critical style of analysis.

I Final qualifications Research Master (MSc) of European Studies

The Degree of Research Master (MSc) of European Studies is awarded to students who:

A. Knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor I) have demonstrated knowledge and understanding of the multi- and interdisciplinary field of European Studies that is founded upon and extends and enhances their BA level and that provides a basis for originality in developing ideas in a research context. Students acquire in-depth and specialist knowledge and understanding of:

- A1. the European integration process in its historical, cultural, political, institutional, economic, legal and international dimensions as well as state of the art scientific research in the multi- and interdisciplinary field of European Studies;
- A2. the historical evolution of the European Union (EU) in a global context and in comparison to other forms of international cooperation, and the history and social construction of European community, identity and culture (specialisation 1);
- A3. EU multi-level governance, the EU's institutional and legal architecture and organisational culture, EU policies and policy-making, including the role of information and expertise; and wider debates about democracy and the legitimacy of EU governance from a local, regional and international perspective (specialisation 2);
- A4. the EU as an international actor in a changing global environment, the institutional architecture of EU external relations, and the EU's bilateral political and trade relations with major partners, as well as national, regional and international challenges facing the EU (specialisation 3);
- A5. a broad range of theories, concepts and scientific research methods from history, political science, international relations, sociology and related academic disciplines aimed at understanding the process of European integration, EU politics and the EU as an international actor in a changing global environment;
- A6. historical research methods and their application to scientific research in the field of European Studies (specialisation a);
- A7. qualitative research methods and their application to scientific research in the field of European Studies (specialisation b);
- A8. quantitative research methods and their application to scientific research in the field of European Studies (specialisation c);
- A9. how to design, plan and implement an independent research project in the field of European Studies;
- A10. how to integrate substantive, theoretical and methodological knowledge;
- A11. national and international research funding possibilities.

B. Applying knowledge and insight (Dublin Descriptor II)

can apply their knowledge and understanding and problem-solving abilities in new or unfamiliar environments within broader multi- and interdisciplinary contexts related to European Studies. Students have the ability to:

- B1. identify and formulate new topics and questions relevant to state of the art research in the field of European Studies;
- B2. apply specialist knowledge of the European integration process in its historical, cultural, political, institutional, economic, legal and international dimensions to examine new research puzzles and questions in the field of European Studies;
- B3. apply, depending on the study track, the specialist knowledge of processes of European integration, EU politics and policies, as well as the EU as an international actor to examine new research puzzles and questions in the field of European Studies;
- B4. compare, select, integrate and apply the appropriate theories, concepts and scientific research methods from history, political science, international relations, sociology and related academic disciplines to analyse new research puzzles and questions related to the process of European integration (specialisation 1), EU politics (specialisation 2) and the EU as an international actor in a changing global environment (specialisation 3);
- B5. select and apply, depending on the specialisation, the appropriate historical, qualitative or quantitative social science research methods to analyse new research puzzles and questions in the field of European Studies;
- B6. critically appraise the quality of various source materials;

- B7. design, plan and implement an independent research project in the field of European Studies, which has the potential to make an original contribution to the state of the art scientific research in the field of European Studies;
- B8. integrate and apply substantive knowledge, theories and methods from the multi- and interdisciplinary field of European Studies to new research puzzles so as to facilitate substantive, theoretical and methodological innovation;
- B9. use ethical rules related to scholarly work (including styles of acknowledgement, use of other persons' sources, referencing, peer review, anonymity);
- B10. write applications for the acquisition of national and international research funds.

C. Formation of a judgement (Dublin descriptor III)

have the ability to integrate knowledge and handle complexity, and formulate judgments with incomplete or limited information, but that include reflecting on social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of their knowledge and judgments. These competences include the ability to:

- C1. integrate substantive and methodological knowledge as a basis to develop evidence-based arguments;
- C2. appraise, contextualise and judge past and on-going developments in the process of European integration, including its historical, cultural, political, institutional, economic, legal and international dimensions;
- C3. grasp and handle the multiplicity and complexity of data and data sources in the field of European Studies (information literacy);
- C4. critically appraise standard arguments, assumptions, concepts, theories and methods in the field of European Studies, and to critically reflect on relevant cultural, social and ethical issues;
- C5. integrate and combine substantive knowledge, theories and methods from the diverse field of European Studies in a well-reasoned manner;
- C6. manage datasets to build evidence-based arguments to understand and explain processes of European integration, EU politics and policies, as well as the EU as an international actor in a changing global environment;
- C7. develop a level of abstraction that allows seeing beyond the data gathered in independently managed research projects and interpreting the theoretical, as well as the societal relevance of the key findings of such projects;
- C8. evaluate, compare and develop scholarly arguments in the field of European Studies in view of forming a judgement on the state of the art of research in the field, its original contribution and on future research agendas;
- C9. contribute in an original and sound scholarly way to the body of knowledge production, as certified by the 'master piece' of a final thesis, as stepping stone towards a peer-reviewed international journal article.

D. Communication (Dublin Descriptor IV)

can communicate their conclusions, and the knowledge and rationale underpinning these, to specialists and nonspecialist audiences clearly and unambiguously. These competences include the ability to:

- D1. contribute to the various forms of knowledge output and dissemination commonly used in the academic field of European Studies (e.g. research paper, conference presentation, research proposal, peer-review);
- D2. participate in scholarly discussions;
- D3. communicate research results to other researchers within the multi- and interdisciplinary field of European Studies;
- D4. communicate research results to non-academic stakeholders (e.g. policy brief or report)(graduation package 'Internship').

D5. communicate research results in an international context (graduation packages 'Double Degree' and 'Study Abroad').

E. Learning skills (Dublin Descriptor V)

have the learning skills to allow them to continue to study in a manner that may be largely self-directed or autonomous. These competences include the ability to:

- E1. critically reflect upon one's own work and performance in an international and multicultural working environment, and to accordingly adapt that work (constructive learning);
- E2. make one's own substantive choices related to research topic, questions, and approach; also in relation to societal circumstances and global challenges (contextual learning);
- E3. set one's own objectives, priorities and develop feasible work and research plans (self-directed learning);
- E4. function in multi-disciplinary, international and multi-cultural research teams (collaborative learning);
- E5. do adequate time management;
- E6. develop international networks (graduation package 'Internship');
- E7. acquire an original and critical style of analysis.

APPENDIX 3 Choice of language master's programmes

A Master European Studies

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Master European Studies teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus because it addresses the process European integration, including EU public policy, the EU and international politics, and Europe's relations with the rest of the world.
- The academic community is internationally oriented and the staff is international. The MA European Studies is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. Staff originate from several countries, including Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Germany, Israel, Spain, The Netherlands, and the United Kingdom.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking). Alumni pursue a career in the EU institutions, international organizations, national governments and companies in Belgium, The Netherlands, and beyond. Therefore, our graduates require the ability to deal with multi-dimensional issues and problems in an international setting. For entry-level positions in the EU institutions, graduates need to have thorough knowledge of one of the official EU languages and satisfactory knowledge of a second official EU language.
- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and English is the common language. The MA European Studies on average has an intake each year of more than 10 different nationalities, and about 80 % of the students are non-Dutch.

B Master European Studies, specialisation ESST

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Master European Studies: European Studies on Society, Science and Technology (ESST) teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus because it is part of a European joint degree programme and offered together with 15 partner universities in Europe. Moreover, the ESST focus on governance, sustainability and cultures of innovation in today's society implies the inclusion of the dynamics of globalisation.
- The academic community is internationally-oriented and the staff is international. The MA ESST is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. The student population is highly international and students are expected to spend their second semester at one of the international partner universities for their specialisation trajectory. To enable international exchange within the network all second-semester specializations of the ESST network are offered in English. The MA ESST has an international classroom, and thus requires a common language. In addition, ESST is part of a European network which facilitates student exchanges during the second semester, as well as occasional staff exchanges. This, too, requires a common language.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking) because ESST graduates are expected to pursue a career in international institutes and corporations in the Netherlands, Europe and beyond that deal with techno-social challenges that transgress national boundaries. The international setting of their domain of attention requires a number of international and inter-cultural competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others.

- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and English is the common language. On average the recent cohorts contain 30% Dutch students and 70% EU and non-EU students.

C Master European Public Affairs

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Master European Public Affairs teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus. The courses in the programme focus on actors, institutions and decision-making processes on the European Union level, as well as lobbying and implementation and evaluation of European policies on the level of the member states. The unifying theme across all courses is the professional practice of public affairs in the European Union.
- The academic community is internationally oriented and the staff is international. The MA EPA is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. Staff originate from several countries, including Austria, Bulgaria, France, Ireland, the Netherlands, Poland, the UK and the US.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking). Our graduates pursue a career in European or EU-related public affairs and public service. Therefore, our graduates require the ability to deal with multi-dimensional issues and problems in an international setting. The European Personnel Service Office (EPSO), the body that principally deals with the selection of staff for EU institutions, states that applicants will be tested on skills and knowledge. It also assesses them on a number of competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others. Many of the alumni find work at European institutions such as the European Parliament or the European Commission. Or many of the alumni work for public affairs consultancies such as Grayling or Fleishman-Hillard.
- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and English is the common language. Out of thirty students each year in the programme, there are approximately 3-4 Dutch students. For the remaining students there are about 10 different nationalities.

D Arts & Culture G Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the MA Arts & Culture/Kunst- & Cultuurwetenschappen, teaching and examinations are conducted in Dutch and English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has a national as well as an international orientation and focus. Tutorials, workshops and examinations in English or Dutch allow for a national specialization while keeping an international outlook and profile. Joint English lectures and tutorials provide an international common ground, a common international language and comparison point. This allows the student to experience the international classroom while allowing them to specialise for the Dutch-speaking market.
- The academic community (including the programme's teaching staff) is internationally oriented. The Ma Arts & Culture is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. The various international and interdisciplinary experiences of the staff is an asset to the quality of the programme, giving the students an international outlook, a global understanding of the arts and culture world and the opportunity to participate in international collaborations (particularly through a very international internship programme).
- The programme prepares students for the Dutch and international labour market. Alumni can be found in a wide range of high level institutions like education, research and cultural institutions in the Netherlands (e.g. Dutch municipalities and national arts institutions) as well as abroad like the UNESCO World Heritage Centre in Paris, the Kulturprojekte Berlin and Save the Children UK. All these positions require adequate functioning in multidisciplinary, international and intercultural teams. To do so our graduates need a number of international and inter-cultural competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others.

- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and Dutch and English are the common language. (30%Dutch; 70%non-Dutch).

E MA Media Studies, specialisation 'Digital Cultures'

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Master Media Studies: Digital Cultures teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus because at the heart of the curriculum are multi-faceted, internationally recognized issues in digitalization, requiring investigation from various disciplinary and cultural perspectives.
- The academic community is internationally oriented and the staff is international. The MA Media Studies: Digital Cultures is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. The academic staff originates from several countries, including Belgium, Germany, the Netherlands, the U.K., Canada, Norway and Israel. Teaching takes place in an international classroom, where the language of instruction is English.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking). Alumni of this programme are expected to function in multidisciplinary, international and intercultural research teams in order to pursue a career in international institutes and corporations in the Netherlands, Europe and beyond that deal with digital challenges which transgress national boundaries. The international setting of their domain of attention requires a number of international and inter-cultural competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others.
- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse with about 80% of the student population coming from outside of the Netherlands. Due to this international environment, English serves as the common language for our students.

F MA Globalisation and Development Studies

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Master Globalisation and Development Studies teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus because the master programme Globalisation and Development Studies (MA GDS) focuses on how globalisation affects and interconnects different areas of the globe and how these trends produce diverse 'local' responses, particularly in the Global South. All courses are taught in English and the literature used is in English. Typical courses are: Theories and Histories of Globalisation and Development; Globalisation and Poverty: a Connected World; Transnational Migrant Networks and Flows; and Science and Technology Studies (STS) for Development in a Global Context.
- The academic community is internationally oriented and the staff is international. The MA GDS is a member of the European Association of Development Research and Training Institutes (EADI) and has adopted its Domain Specific Framework of Reference. The programme is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics, with differing disciplinary backgrounds. Likewise, the student body is highly international.

- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking) because GDS alumni will work as researchers and/or practitioners in the field of Globalisation and Development, perform in international teams and must be able to operate intelligently in situations of incomplete, scarce or inaccurate data and information. In other words, alumni of this programme are expected to pursue a career in international organizations, NGOs, government institutions and corporations in The Netherlands, Europe and beyond that deal with globalisation and development challenges. The global dimensions of the issues at stake, focusing on transnational links between the Global South and Global North in particular, requires international and inter-cultural competences, including communicating, researching, presenting and working with others in international teams.
- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and English is the common language. On average the recent cohorts contain 15% Dutch students and 85% EU and non-EU students.

H Arts & Culture (research), specialisation 'Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology' – RM CAST

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the Research Master's programme Arts & Culture: Cultures of Arts, Science and Technology (CAST) teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus; CAST has a strong interest in skills and tacit knowledge within science, technology and the arts, for understanding their contributions to modern culture – which is increasingly a global culture. The appropriation of genetically modified food in developing countries or the vulnerability of globally-networked high technological societies are therefore also typical CAST research topics.
- The academic community is internationally-oriented and the staff is international. The Research Master's programme CAST is taught by a dedicated, international group of academics (including US, Germany, Canada) with differing disciplinary backgrounds and excellent research profiles. It is a targeted and dedicated 2-year program to prepare students for the international research field of art, science and technology. The student group is international and work intensively with peer-feedback and joint projects. In their third semester they spend a research internship abroad, in the EU, US or elsewhere.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking) because CAST graduates are expected to pursue a career in universities international research institutes and corporations in the Netherlands, Europe and beyond that deal with techno-social challenges that transgress national boundaries. The international setting of their domain of attention requires a number of international and inter-cultural competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others.
- The student intake and current population is internationally diverse and English is the common language. The student population typically is one third from NL, one third from other EU countries and one third from elsewhere (US or Asia). Their common language is English.

I European Studies (research) – RM ES

The choice for the language of instruction of the programme is in line with the UM Code of Conduct on language in accordance with the Dutch Higher Education and Research Act (WHW) art. 7.2.

Because of the specific educational nature and profile of the MSc European Studies (Research) teaching and examinations are conducted in English. This guarantees the quality of education, because:

- The content of the programme has an international orientation and focus because it covers the international developments both in the European Union and in a wider, global context.

- The academic community is internationally oriented and academic staff is international (e.g. from Austria, Bulgaria, France, the Netherlands, Poland, the UK or the US). The MSc ES a high quality programme focused on teaching the state of the art in the field of European Studies, drawing on advanced research methodology. All academics teaching in the programme are leading scholars in the field of European Studies, who have been recruited internationally.
- The labour market demand is internationally oriented (English speaking) The overall objective of this programme is to equip graduates for high-level research careers in and outside academia. Alumni pursue a career in academia or international research institutes like EU institutions and member state administrations, Brussels-based interest groups, think tanks and other international institutions. Therefore, our graduates require excellent communication skills in English. The European Personnel Service Office (EPSO), the body that principally deals with the selection of staff for EU institutions, states that applicants will be tested on skills and knowledge. It also assesses them on a number of competences, including communicating, learning and development, and working with others.
- The student intake and current population is international and English is the common language (90% of the student population is international).
