

Guido Gryseels

Since 2001, Guido Gryseels is Director General of the Royal Museum for Central Africa in Tervuren, Belgium.

He has a PhD in Agricultural Economics from the University of Wageningen (The Netherlands) and has graduate degrees from the University of Leuven (Belgium) and the University of New England (Australia).

From 1987 until 2001, he worked as Service Chief and Principal Agricultural Research Officer at the FAO and UNDP of the United Nations. He also conducted from 1979 to 1987 farming systems research at the International Livestock Centre in Addis Ababa and undertook consultancies for UNDP and the World Bank.

Guido Gryseels is Member of the Board of Trustees of the Belgian Development Cooperation 'ENABEL' and Chair of its Budget Committee. Guido Gryseels is President of the European Ethnology Museums Directors Group and is also active in the Consortium for European Taxonomic Facilities (CETAF) in Europe. He is also a Member of the Board of Directors of the Belgian Science Policy. He is also active in several European museum networks including the current SWICH (Sharing a World of Inclusion, Creativity and Heritage).