

SHE Educates on demand

Within SHE Educates, we offer courses that can be given on demand and anytime during the year, based on your availability and schedule.

On-demand courses are only provided for groups. The format can be adapted to your needs and preferences. If you have specific interests, let us know which topics or areas you would like to add. The online Certificate Course can be combined with additional online sessions or an onsite workshop at your institution. Please note that adaptations will have consequences for the course price.

SHE Summer course

PBL and beyond: applying learning principles in your education

Discover our Summer Course and immerse yourself in student-centered education, equipping you with practical tools to apply in your own context.

Study Smart

Implementing Principles of Effective Study in Higher Education

How can you help your students not only work hard, but learn effectively? In this workshop, you will explore the theory and evidence behind effective study strategies, such as retrieval practice, spaced learning, and metacognitive reflection, and learn how to implement these within your educational design. Available on demand.

Certificate Courses

Certificate Courses offer students the opportunity to acquire knowledge and skills related to major topics in health professions education.

SHE Visitor's Workshop

In our Visitor's Workshop, we share many years of theoretical and practical experience in designing, managing and assessing learning in student-centered curricula.
